EDITORIAL NOTE

by Kelvin Atemie-Hart

What happened to the time, when we heard stories of Nigerian deity; We all want to see Nigerian superheroes and different gods from our traditional deity, but in our country, how does an everyday youth reacts to the idea of getting powers while trying to hustle and make a living, especially someone with high responsibility and expectation from family. Imagine Obatala, a traditional god in this technologically advanced era, trying to live among mere men. Enigma takes us into a growing universe, starting with Fermi; We see a young man drawn into a world beyond his everyday life when he gets powers that holds the key to unlocking evil into our world. Femi is a character people might be able to relate to. It's not easy to finish from school and get a good paying job to sustain you and loved ones around you, being a superhero doesn't put food on the table and therefore with great powers still comes great hustle that's if you're on of the good guys. Think about this if you can't fly in a place like Lagos, how do you get to a location on time with the traffic we face and stop a robbery. The story gradually eases into what our world is like having people with powers walking our streets and having our traditional deities in our midst.

Character Profile

Legal Name: Femi Ogunsola

Gender: Male

Age: 26

Occupation: Uber Driver

Height: 6 ft 1 inch

Weight: 90 kg

Nationality: Nigerian

POWERS & ABILITY

POWERS: Telekinesis, flying, energy blast, heightened strength and rapid healing.

ABILITY: Femi studied Mechanical Engineering in school and is good with machines; He also learnt boxing and hand combat while in the university.

SOURCE OF POWERS: One of the keys (A Bracelet) or so we thought.

While in primary school his single mother left him at his uncle's house during the holidays and she never came back for him; Ever since, his uncle has been taking care of him. Femi studied Mechanical Engineering in his Undergraduate at University of Lagos, graduated with a 2:1 after which he did his youth service in Kano. Femi came back to Lagos with no job, so he decided to buy a car with the money he saved and drive using Uber.
